

LIFE THROUGH THE LENS

DOGS DON'T DO "HIGH FIVES!"

"Dogs don't do "High Fives!" Well Ted does. In the world of dogs, Ted would be known as a "Mongrel". Never amount to anything! No one knows who his father is, and his mother is a sheep dog, given away because she was afraid of sheep. One night she went out on the town.

Ted with his big soulful eyes does do "High Fives". Why? Because despite being a mongrel dog, his owner loves him and believes Ted is special and could learn something new. So, with love, patience, example and practice Ted's loving friend taught him to do "high fives". That raised paw has since given amusement, joy and laughs to many people who have met Ted.

Do people sometimes make you think you can't amount to anything? They may not say it but looks and attitude says "Mongrel" Well guess what! Jesus of the Bible doesn't think you are. In fact, He doesn't think anyone is hopeless, He said "I have come so you can have a full life". A "full life" starts with talking to Him, believing He cares and accepting you are of value. Don't believe me? Check it out for yourself. Get hold of a free Bible (lots around) ask at a church office, Teen Challenge, Christian book store and read John chapter 10 verse 10. (Just for starters).

God Bless, Kevin Schrapel.
