

“LIFE THROUGH THE LENS”

NOURISHMENT

The community barbecue sits there in parks, bright, shiny with power connected and waiting to serve any who wish to push the button and enjoy the heat. There was a time when you had to push coins through a slot to enjoy what was on offer - now in most cases it is free.

To enjoy this free service, I have to believe that if I push that button, the expected will happen; the hot plate will get hot, I will cook the meat and go away happy.

Ever feel life might be leaving you feeling as if you have been eating raw meat? So long as it is not contaminated, I guess you could feel “full up”, but the experience probably wouldn’t leave you wanting more.

God / Jesus whichever name you wish to use, is always also there waiting for you to trust him to deliver; with no charge.

Of course, I might point out a couple of things. You have to believe that Jesus is real. Not being bolted to one spot he wants to be a very real part of your daily life. He very clearly states in “I am with you always even to the very ends of the earth.”

Saying either aloud or in your mind, “God, I believe you are real. I trust you will help me with my life. Fill my life with your flavours,” is like pushing the button. God never forces himself on people – the choice is yours. That is part of his respect for you as a person.

Ask him to nourish you with his love.
