

"LIFE THROUGH THE LENS"

GOD CAN ADD BUBBLES

There are two ways you can fill a glass with water. Slowly, which is pretty boring. Or, turn the tap on "full bore" and see what happens. The glass becomes filled, not only with water. The water drags air, making bubbles of all shapes and sizes bounce around. We all know that air brings life and invigorates.

Some believe living with God as part of life would be boring and restrictive. Even as a follower of Jesus, things can sometimes feel a bit "Ho-hum."

Maybe that is because we only allow God/Jesus to influence our lives a drop at a time. We don't let him impact our lives "full-bore".

Try talking to Jesus about him rushing in and filling your life and bringing his love and forgiveness and "bubbles" of excitement. The joy of friends and family. A new way of dealing with old problems. Developing "new friends" and renewing friendships that have gone stale. It can even be exciting witnessing Jesus bring some "bubbles" into someone else's life. Jesus said, "I have come that you may have life: a "full" life: the life I have planned for you. A life overflowing with love and, joy and enthusiasm.

When I fully turned the tap on, the dregs in the glass's bottom were washed out. Don't be surprised when if you let the full force, the full love, of God into your life, some unwanted stuff will be washed out and replaced with "bubbles of joy". It could be worth a try. Talk to Him about it.

Cheers,

Kevin.
